Blends & Digraphs

Phonics Blends - are groups of consonants whose sounds blend together. Each letter within the blend is pronounced individually but quickly so they 'blend' together. Consonant blends that appear at the beginning of a word, are referred to as Initial Consonant Blends and those that appear at the end of a word are referred to as Final Consonant Blends.

Digraphs - A consonant digraph is made up from two consonants which join together to produce a single sound. The most common consonant digraphs are ch-, sh-, th-, ph- and wh.

Trigraph - A trigraph is similar to a digraph except it's a phoneme that consists of 3 letters.

- chr, which makes the /chr/ sound as in chrome and chromosome
- dge, which makes the /g/ sound as in dodge and partridge
- tch, which makes the /tch/ sound as in catch, match
